

Call for Papers
Eighth Meeting
IMPACT EVALUATION NETWORK (IEN)
at Inter-American Development Bank, Washington DC.
September 11th and 12th, 2014

The IMPACT EVALUATION NETWORK (IEN) at the Latin American and the Caribbean Economic Association (LACEA) is an initiative that aims to advance the state of knowledge and expertise regarding impact evaluation of different policies in the Latin America and the Caribbean region. The Network aims to promote impact evaluation methodologies, increase capacity building, and bridge research and policy in the region.

The eighth annual meeting will be hosted by the Inter-American Development Bank, taking place on September 11th and 12th, 2014, Washington DC, USA. Presentation of up to seven papers selected on the basis of academic merit will take place over the course of the meeting. This year the program will include a keynote address by Dr. Martin Ravallion (Georgetown University).

The Network is seeking papers that use impact evaluation techniques applied to program or policy, with priority given to evaluations in countries in the region. We also welcome methodological papers advancing the state of knowledge of program evaluation techniques. A scientific committee will review submitted papers.

Interested researchers and advanced graduate students are welcome to attend and participate in the meeting and training activities even if they are not presenting papers. The number of participants, however, will be limited, so early registration is encouraged.
